Sasria SOC Ltd.'s imminent danger security costs cover communication

The country is presently experiencing a spike in strikes and riots. With this comes an increase in the likelihood of assets being damaged which leads to a surge in special risk claims.

During times of such volatility, companies go into preservation mode and hire additional personnel to help secure and protect their assets. We would like to remind the industry that Sasria SOC Ltd as the only special risk insurance company has suitable security costs cover for such instances.

Our imminent danger security costs cover, provides protection for assets or property prior to damage or loss. Sasria would like brokers and agents to remind their customers of this cover. The security costs cover is broken down in the attached circular.

Despite the spike in claims, Sasria is committed to ensuring the best service to customers and the industry. We are equipped and trained to handle any special risk claims assistance your customers may need.
